

FORGING TOMORROW'S MEN

"The thing I love about Promise Keepers is it brings me closer to God." Graham

God moved powerfully on men at the first two Forging Tomorrow's Men Events in Dunedin and Christchurch. Men responded at a significant level as they involved themselves in the strong theme of being forged by the Master.

Paul from Oamaru described it this way: "Thank you for bringing the glory of God alive in our lives – the Holy Spirit moves through this place as men worship together. Thank you for the refreshing, renewing and re-enforcing!"

Promise Keepers has brought together robust Events with proven speakers, focused breakouts, manly music and a potent program that genuinely emphasises growth in Christian manhood.

We want you to be part of what is happening this year at Forging Tomorrow's Men.

Forging Tomorrow's Men is resonating with men at a deep level. Wayne said it was a "great theme of going into the crucible - the cleansing of [the] heart, removal of the dross... the heart is the wellspring of life."

On Friday night the vision was laid for what the Ultimate Man would look like in a powerful way that inspired and impacted men. Pastor Norm McLeod, from House of Breakthrough in the Manawatu, prayed for each of the forty men in Dunedin who responded to the invitation to commit their lives to Christ. In Christchurch, Robert Siakimotu's message about the heart relationship with God also propelled many men to respond and surrender to God to allow Him to shape and mould them.

Bishop Richard Ellena spoke compellingly in Christchurch about a man's identity and how a false identity can deprive men of their purpose and destiny in life. In Peter's words, there was a "very high standard of speakers who all put a huge amount of effort into their presentations, and the response from everyone here was a testimony to the speakers' input into the Event."

The worship in Christchurch was exceptional. With its own brass section forming part of the 18-strong music team, the men entered into singing with an enthusiasm seldom seen or heard in our nation today. The all-male worship is regularly noted as one of the high points for many men.

Men worshipping wholeheartedly in Christchurch

There was something for all men during the weekend - with the Church for Men breakout (pastors and leaders), Transition (11-17 years), Stance (18-30 years), Single Focus (single men 30+) and married men remaining in the main auditorium. Daniel (age 14) said, "What a fantastic spiritual experience! I have not been so challenged since I first gave my life to Christ. After this weekend, I plan to dramatically change my life definitely for the better! I am looking forward to next year."

Promise Keepers continues to be well supported by local churches, with 42 men from Invercargill Central Baptist winning the annual Men's Group award in Dunedin. The Christchurch award was won (by a very close margin) by the combined churches Group from Greymouth.

Both Events finished strongly, as almost every man present chose to go forward to be prayed for individually and commissioned with a dogtag - to symbolise the changes and transformation that had taken place in men's hearts over the weekend and their intention to live a life that would fulfil God's calling and purpose.

Over 1,140 men were refined and shaped through powerful messages, drama and worship at the two South Island Events. The next Promise Keepers Forging Tomorrow's Men Event will be in Tauranga on 28-29 August, followed by Wellington and Auckland.

Two Events - Double impact!

Tak Bhana

Dave took groups from his church in Geraldine to the Forging Tomorrow's Men Events in both Dunedin and Christchurch this year. The men were powerfully impacted at both Events. As a father, Dave was thrilled to see his son commit his life to Christ at Dunedin. He also reported that "four men who went have gathered another and have formed a men's small group. The guy who is leading it has gone from passive observer to full on for Jesus!" The group who went to Christchurch included a guy who was a Hindu Fijian Indian. "Tak Bhana (an ex-Hindu Indian) spoke on Saturday night. The testimonies and challenges led him to go forward and he is now a follower of Jesus Christ - Praise God! Everyone was impacted, fired up and radically changed."
